Erin Yoo

San Francisco, CA          954-551-8441          erinswyoo@gmail.com          erinyoo.com

My Objective

Innovative and empathetic professional committed to pursuing a long-term career change into product design. Offers two years experience as a front end developer demonstrating critical problem-solving skills, experience seeing a feature through from inception to completion, and building strong collaboration skills with designers on the team.

Skills

| Investigate | Design & Tools | Dev |
| --- | --- | --- |
| Storyboarding, Personas, Usability Testing, Wireframing | Figma, Illustrator, Photoshop, Procreate | HTML, CSS, JavaScript, React, Redux |

Work Experience

Microsoft          2020-present

- Led a feature team to successfully ship an initial frontend iteration for the new Viva Engage Answers platform internally and navigated multi-stage release process.
- Mentored all new engineers on the team, transferred key knowledge of Yammer's technical processes, and taught key skills for professional growth.
- Engaged in the design process end to end, participated in user interviews and worked with designers to iterate on design proposals to ensure technically sound user focused design.
- Coordinated cross functionally with various product teams to align all stakeholders and maximize efficiency of engineering and design efforts.

Personal Projects

DBSA Wellness          Girls in Tech SF Hackathon

- Participated in GITSF '22 Hackathon with a group of three designers under a 36 hour time constraint.
- Collaborated in FigJam to ideate and identify solutions to help users self-manage their mental health.
- Created a hi-fidelity working prototype based off of initial statistical and user research and continued to improve designs with usability tests.

Certifications

Google UI/UX Certification          2022 - present

Education

B.S. in Computer Science          University of Florida